1. What laws and regulations contain legal definitions of the following terms or corresponding terms in your local jurisdiction (links to existing U.S. legal definitions are included, where relevant, as background for comparison – please include definitions of any corresponding terms in your country):

a. child or minor (18 U.S.C. 2256(1), <https://www.law.cornell.edu/uscode/text/18/2256>)

According to Brazilian Civil's Code, minors between the ages of 16 and 18 are relatively capable of exercising the acts of civil life (art. 4, I). Minors under the age of 16 are absolutely incapable of performing the acts of civil life (art. 3). Furthermore, minors cease to be minors when they reach the age of 18, at which point they will be qualified to perform all acts of civil life (art. 5).

According to Brazilian Child and Adolescent Statute, a child is considered to be someone up to the age of twelve and an adolescent is considered to be someone between the ages of twelve and eighteen (art. 2º).

2. Please explain any legal or regulatory requirement or recommendation for Online Platforms to undertake any of the following activities on their systems to protect children online from sexual exploitation:

a. review, screen, moderate, or detect content to identify child pornography or CSAM content

Online platforms under Brazilian law have almost no legal or regulatory requirement to undertake, moderate, review content that is being channeled through the platform, including child pornography or CSAM content.

Online platforms are only obliged to remove certain contents if there is a specific court order. Otherwise, there is no legal requirement to do so.

Law 12.965/2014:

Art. 19. In order to ensure freedom of expression and prevent censorship, the Internet application provider can only be held civilly liable for damages arising from content generated by third parties if, after a specific court order, it fails to take steps to make the content identified as infringing unavailable within the scope and technical limits of its service and within the specified timeframe, subject to legal provisions to the contrary.

§ Paragraph 1 The court order referred to in the caput must contain, under penalty of nullity, clear and specific identification of the content indicated as infringing, which allows the material to be unequivocally located.

§ Paragraph 2 The application of the provisions of this article to infringements of copyright or related rights depends on specific legal provision, which must respect freedom of expression and other guarantees provided for in Article 5 of the Federal Constitution.

§ Paragraph 3 Cases involving compensation for damages arising from content made available on the internet related to honor, reputation or personality rights, as well as the unavailability of such content by internet application providers, may be brought before the special courts.

§ Paragraph 4 The judge, including in the procedure provided for in Paragraph 3, may, in whole or in part, anticipate the effects of the relief sought in the initial request, if there is unequivocal proof of the fact and considering the interest of the community in making the content available on the Internet, provided that the requirements of verisimilitude of the plaintiff's claim and well-founded fear of irreparable damage or difficult reparation are present.

Art. 21. The internet application provider that makes available content generated by third parties will be held subsidiarily liable for the violation of privacy resulting from the disclosure, without the authorization of its participants, of images, videos or other materials containing scenes of nudity or sexual acts of a private nature when, after receiving notification from the participant or their legal representative, it fails to diligently promote, within the scope and technical limits of its service, the unavailability of such content.

Sole paragraph. The notification provided for in the caput must contain, under penalty of nullity, elements that allow the specific identification of the material indicated as violating the participant's privacy and the verification of the legitimacy for submitting the request.

b. review, screen, moderate, or detect content to identify enticement, grooming, or sextortion of a child

Online platforms under Brazilian law have almost no legal or regulatory requirement to undertake, moderate, review content that is being channeled through the platform, including enticement, grooming or sextortion of a child.

Online platforms are only obliged to remove certain contents if there is a specific court order. Otherwise, there is no legal requirement to do so.

Sole paragraph. The notification provided for in the caput must contain, under penalty of nullity, elements that allow the specific identification of the material indicated as violating the participant's privacy and the verification of the legitimacy for submitting the request.

- c. report child pornography, CSAM, enticement, grooming, or sextortion that they become aware of or are notified about on their systems to a law enforcement or government agency or nongovernmental organization

There is no legal or regulatory requirement specifically on reporting child pornography, CSAM, enticement, grooming or sextortion that they become aware of or are notified about to a law enforcement or government agency. The online platforms are not obliged to report, it is a faculty that can or cannot be used, but are no legal requirements.

- d. remove or take down any child pornography, CSAM, enticement, grooming, or sextortion that they identify, become aware of, or are notified about

There is no legal or regulatory requirement specifically on reporting child pornography, CSAM, enticement, grooming or sextortion that the online platforms identify, become aware of, or are notified about. The online platforms are only obliged to take down these content if there is a specific court order.

- e. review content by human moderators to screen or moderate for child pornography or CSAM

There is no legal or regulatory requirement specifically on review content by human moderators to screen or moderate for child pornography or CSAM.

- f. remove child pornography, CSAM, enticement, grooming, or sextortion from their systems when notified of its presence by a victim, nongovernmental organization, law enforcement, or government agency

There is no legal or regulatory requirement to remove child pornography, CSAM, enticement, grooming or sextortion from their systems when notified of its presence by a victim. Obviously it is prudent that the platforms remove these kind of content, but there is no legal obligation.

- g. use any specific technology to detect, remove, block, or take down any child pornography, CSAM, enticement, grooming, or sextortion, including:
- i. “Hashing technology” (<https://www.thorn.org/blog/hashing-detect-child-sex-abuse-imagery/>). Many Online Platforms hash and tag images and videos of child pornography or CSAM and then use hashing technology to scan content on their systems to detect the distribution of child pornography or CSAM online so it can be removed.
 - ii. Artificial intelligence or machine learning tools to detect the presence of child pornography, CSAM, enticement, grooming, or sextortion.

There is no legal or regulatory requirement that the platforms must use hashing technology, artificial intelligence or machine learning to detect, remove, block or take down any child pornography, CSAM, enticement, grooming, or sextortion.

- h. if the applicable laws or regulations require some, but not all, Online Platforms to perform any of the above activities, describe how the differing requirements apply. For example, are differences based on the number of online users, types of services offered, etc.?

There is no legal distinction between online platforms. All platforms are legally classified as one single category.

Under Law 12.965/2014, online platforms are classified as internet application providers:

Art. 5 For the purposes of this Law, the following are considered:

VII - Internet applications: the set of functionalities that can be accessed through a terminal connected to the Internet;

3. Are Online Platforms legally required or recommended to implement any method to verify the age of a user before allowing access to an online platform?

Brazil still doesn't have any legislation versing about the verification of a user's age before allowing access to an online platform, but this theme is already being discussed in the houses of the legislative power. There are already bills being proposed to make digital platforms accountable for children's and teenager's safety.

PL. 3993/2020 (Bill 3993/2020)

Verses about the obligation of presenting proof of age to have access to online platforms. This bill changes the law 12.965/2014 making it mandatory to show proof of age before entering online platforms.

PL 2628/2022 (Bill 2628/2022)

The Human Rights Commission approved a bill to protect children and teenagers in online environments, in this bill there is an article prohibiting the creation of online profiles for children under 12 years old. The fail to ensure that these profiles aren't being created can lead to suspension or even prohibition of the service, plus a monetary fine (10% of its income in Brazil or R$1000,00 by user under 12 years old of a maximum of R$50.000.000,00).

The Senate is currently voting on this bill.

Therefore, Brazil still doesn't have any legislation in place to regulate at what age people can open accounts in digital platforms, but there are already bills put in place to start fixing this issue, now it's up to the House of Representatives and Senate to pass this bill for it to become a law.

4. Are Online Platforms legally required or recommended to implement any method to obtain parental consent before a child uses the services of such Online Platforms?

Brazil still doesn't have any legislation versing about parental consent before a child uses the services of online platforms, but this theme is under discussion in the houses of the legislative power. There are already bills proposals to make digital platforms accountable for children's and teenager's safety.

PL 2628/2022 (Bill 2628/2022)

The Human Rights Commission approved a bill to protect children and teenagers in online environments, in this bill there is an article that requires online platforms to obtain parental consent before a child uses the platform services. Although, this requirement applies only to those platforms that have more than 1 million Brazilian child users. These platforms are obliged to prepare reports twice a year on how they obtain parental consent.

The Senate is currently voting on this bill.

Therefore, Brazil still doesn't have any legislation in place to regulate how online platforms obtain consent from their parent's users, but there are already bills put in place to start fixing this issue, now it's up to the House of Representatives and Senate to pass this bill for it to become a law.

5. Are there legal remedies for children who have been victimized by online child sexual exploitation? This may include children who are victimized by the distribution of child pornography or CSAM imagery in which they are depicted, or children victimized by enticement, grooming or sextortion. If such legal remedies exist, do they include:

YES

- a. The ability to stop the publication of the pornography or CSAM imagery by the Online Platform?

No.

- b. An obligation on the part of the Online Platform to take active steps to remove the pornography or other imagery from their servers?

Yes, according to Law 12.965/2014:

Art. 19. In order to ensure freedom of expression and prevent censorship, the Internet application provider can only be held civilly liable for damages arising from content generated by third parties if, after a specific court order, it fails to take steps to make the content identified as infringing unavailable within the scope and technical limits of its service and within the specified timeframe, subject to legal provisions to the contrary.

§ Paragraph 1 The court order referred to in the caput must contain, under penalty of nullity, clear and specific identification of the content indicated as infringing, which allows the material to be unequivocally located.

§ Paragraph 2 The application of the provisions of this article to infringements of copyright or related rights depends on specific legal provision, which must respect freedom of expression and other guarantees provided for in Article 5 of the Federal Constitution.

§ Paragraph 3 Cases involving compensation for damages arising from content made available on the internet related to honor, reputation or personality rights, as well as the unavailability of such content by internet application providers, may be brought before the special courts.

§ Paragraph 4 The judge, including in the procedure provided for in Paragraph 3, may, in whole or in part, anticipate the effects of the relief sought in the initial request, if there is unequivocal proof of the fact and considering the interest of the community in making the content available on the Internet, provided that the requirements of verisimilitude of the plaintiff's claim and well-founded fear of irreparable damage or difficult reparation are present.

Art. 20. Whenever it has contact information for the user directly responsible for the content referred to in Art. 19, the internet application provider shall be responsible for communicating to the user the reasons and information relating to the unavailability of content, with information that allows for an adversarial proceeding and a full defense in court, unless expressly provided for by law or a reasoned judicial determination to the contrary.

Sole paragraph. When requested by the user who made the content unavailable, the internet application provider that carries out this activity in an organized manner, professionally and for economic purposes will replace the content made unavailable with the reason or court order that gave rise to the unavailability.

Art. 21. The internet application provider that makes available content generated by third parties will be held subsidiarily liable for the violation of privacy resulting from the disclosure, without the authorization of its participants, of images, videos or other materials containing scenes of nudity or sexual acts of a private nature when, after receiving notification from the participant or their legal representative, it fails to diligently promote, within the scope and technical limits of its service, the unavailability of such content.

Sole paragraph. The notification provided for in the caput must contain, under penalty of nullity, elements that allow the specific identification of the material indicated as violating the participant's privacy and the verification of the legitimacy for submitting the request.

Brazilian Code of Civil Procedure:

INTERLOCUTORY RELIEF

Art. 300. Interlocutory relief shall be granted when there are elements that prove the probability of the alleged claim (the “smoke of good law” or fumus boni iuris) and the risk of loss or injury to the useful outcome of the lawsuit (periculum in mora).

§ 1 In order to grant interlocutory relief, a judge may, as the case may be, demand suitable security interest or personal guarantees in order to compensate for losses that the other party may incur, with the possibility of waiving security interests if the economically disadvantaged party cannot provide them.

§ 2 Interlocutory relief may be granted on a preliminary basis or upon prior justification.

§ 3 Interlocutory relief of a preliminary nature shall not be granted when there is a risk of the effects of the decision being irreversible

Art. 301. Interlocutory relief of a preliminary nature may be enforced by means of a provisional attachment, sequestration, attachment lien on assets, the lodging of a protest against the alienation of property and any other suitable measure to assure the right.

PROCEDURE OF INTERLOCUTORY RELIEF REQUESTED IN THE COMPLAINT

Art. 303. In cases where there is urgency at the time of filing the action, the complaint can consist solely of a request for interlocutory relief and of the disclosure of the final remedy sought, with an explanation of the dispute, of the right sought to be enforced and the risk of loss or injury to the useful outcome of the lawsuit.

§ 1 Once the interlocutory relief referred to in the head provision of his article has been granted:

- I the plaintiff must amend the complaint, complementing it with arguments, filing new documents and confirming the request for final remedy, within fifteen (15) days or longer by determination of the judge;
- II the defendant shall be served with summons and notified to appear at the conciliation or mediation hearing under art. 334;
- III should the dispute not be resolved by the parties, the deadline for the filing of the defence shall start running pursuant to art. 335.

§ 2 If the amendment referred to in item I of § 1 of this article is not realised, the case shall be dismissed without prejudice.

§ 3 The amendment referred to in item I of § 1 of this article is to be filed in the same case, without giving rise to new procedural costs.

§ 4 The plaintiff is to state the value of the claim, which must take into account the final remedy request, in the complaint referred to in the head provision of this article.

§ 5 In the complaint, the plaintiff shall further state his or her intention of taking advantage of the benefit provided for in the head provision of this article.

§ 6 Should the court judge that there is no evidence that would justify granting interlocutory relief, it shall determine that the complaint be amended within five (5) days, under penalty of being denied and the action dismissed without prejudice.

Art. 305. The complaint of the action that aims to obtain a provisional remedy at the outset shall state the dispute and its reasons, a brief statement of the right which it aims to assure and the risk of loss or injury to the useful outcome of the lawsuit.

Sole paragraph. Should the judge deem that the request referred to in the head provision is for an advance remedy, the provisions of art. 303 shall be observed.

Art. 311. Relief based on prima facie evidence is to be granted regardless of the production of evidence of risk of loss or injury to the useful outcome of the lawsuit, when:

- I there is an abuse of the right of defense or the party demonstrates clear intentions of delaying the proceedings;
- II the allegation can only be proven by means of documental evidence and when there is a rule based on the trial of multiple claims on the same point of law or a precedent, a binding statement;
- III it is an action to reclaim the possession of property based on the documental evidence of a bailment contract, in which case an order shall be issued to return the object held by the bailee for safekeeping, on pain of a fine;
- IV the complaint produces sufficient documental evidence of the facts that constitute the plaintiff's right, and against which the defendant does not produce evidence capable of generating reasonable doubt.

Sole paragraph. In the cases set forth in items II and III, a judge may render a preliminary decision.

d. A protective order or other court order that prohibits the person who posts the pornography or imagery from doing so in the future on the same or other Online Platform?

Yes. According to the previous topic, in the civil sphere, these are the possible measures for the person posting pornography to remove it from the air. In the criminal sphere, there is the possibility of a court order to remove the content, based on the following articles:

-Code of Criminal Procedure:

Art. 282. The precautionary measures provided for in this Title shall be applied in accordance with:

- I Necessity for the application of criminal law, for investigation or criminal investigation and, in the cases expressly provided for, to prevent the commission of criminal offenses;
- II Suitability of the measure to the seriousness of the crime, the circumstances of the fact and the personal conditions of the accused.

§ Paragraph 1. Precautionary measures may be applied separately or cumulatively.

§ Paragraph 2. Precautionary measures shall be ordered by the judge at the request of the parties or, when in the course of a criminal investigation, by representation of the police authority or at the request of the Public Prosecutor's Office.

§ Paragraph 3. Except in cases of urgency or danger of ineffectiveness of the measure, the judge, upon receiving the request for a precautionary measure, shall order that the opposing party be summoned to appear within 5 (five) days, accompanied by a copy of the request and the necessary documents, and the case file shall remain in court, and cases of urgency or danger shall be justified and substantiated in a decision containing elements of the specific case that justify this exceptional measure.

§ Paragraph 4. In the event of non-compliance with any of the obligations imposed, the judge, at the request of the Public Prosecutor's Office, its assistant or the plaintiff, may replace the measure, impose another in addition, or, in the last resort, decree preventive detention, under the terms of the sole paragraph of art. 312 of this Code.

§ Paragraph 5 -- The judge may, ex officio or at the request of the parties, revoke the precautionary measure or replace it when he finds that there is no reason for it to continue, as well as re--decree it if there are reasons to justify it.

§ Paragraph 6 -- Pre-trial detention shall only be ordered when it cannot be replaced by another precautionary measure, in compliance with Article 319 of this Code, and the failure to replace it by another precautionary measure shall be justified on the basis of the elements present in the specific case, in an individualized manner.

Art. 319. The following are precautionary measures other than imprisonment

- I Periodic appearance in court, within the time limit and under the conditions set by the judge, to inform and justify activities
- II Prohibition of access to or attendance at certain places when, due to circumstances related to the fact, the accused must remain away from these places to avoid the risk of further infractions;
- III Prohibition of maintaining contact with a specific person when, due to circumstances related to the fact, the accused must remain distant from them;
- IV Prohibition to leave the district when the stay is convenient or necessary for the investigation or instruction;
- V Home confinement at night and on days off when the investigated or accused has a fixed residence and work;
- VI Suspension of the exercise of public functions or economic or financial activities when there is a fair fear that they will be used to commit criminal offenses;
- VII provisional internment of the accused in the event of crimes committed with violence or serious threat, when the experts conclude that the accused is incapable or semi-capable (art. 26 of the Penal Code) and there is a risk of repetition;
- VIII Bail, in cases where bail is allowed, to ensure attendance at proceedings, to prevent obstruction of proceedings or in the event of unjustified resistance to a court order;
- IX Electronic monitoring;

§ Bail shall be applied in accordance with the provisions of Chapter VI of this Title, and may be combined with other precautionary measures.
